

Company fundraising

Companies big and small support ECHO by raising money in all sorts of ways, providing volunteers and helping us to increase awareness. Companies who come on board with ECHO as a partner swiftly become a part of the ECHO Community, and their ongoing commitment makes a direct positive impact on our work.

Whether you want to get a team of your employees to utilise their skills and get involved in our day-to-day work, or take on a team fundraising challenge we'd love to speak to you - check out our company fundraising ideas here.

We are committed to providing regular feedback to our company partners as well as opportunities to see firsthand the tangible results of their commitment. We are all on the same team after all - Team ECHO!

Selecting ECHO as your charity of the year

Nominate us as your chosen charity and we will work with you to develop an exciting partnership which fits your strategic and Corporate Social Responsibility aims, inspires your employees, engenders a real team spirit and engages your customers.

The value of your input in helping us raise much needed funds cannot be underestimated - the reality is we do need money. But we have much to offer you in return with a variety of regular and one-off volunteering opportunities for your staff to take part in. We also offer a unique chance to make a difference to the lives of children and young people with heart conditions.
